

What Aviation Cadets Dream About

WISE CO. MAN GOES

AFTER ADEQUATE

1942 PRODUCTION

Feels Responsibility To Our

Youth At War

In the Clinch River section of Wise county, hard by the Russell line, is the 150 acre farm of native-born W. L. Kennedy, who has gone all-out in giving his time and talent to encouraging the production of farm commodities needed in the nation's war effort.

He was nominated as a community commissioner in the last AAA election but was not elected, and therefore had no official responsibility to aid in the production of commodities needed by the demobes. But he did not allow freedom from official responsibility to interfere with what he considers a personal responsibility to our youth on the firing line.

When most of the elected community commissioners could not help with the production campaign due to other activities besides farming, Mr. Kennedy was asked to assist. "I have a son on the Ludlow, a destroyer in ice-land waters, and I am going to do everything that I can to help in the defense program," he replied. "I don't want my son to come back home and say, 'Pop, we could have done a lot better if you folks at home had done your part in the defence.

Marine Firearms Are Numerous

MARINE CORPS BASE, San Diego, Calif.—1st Sgt. Vaughn E. Hanson holds over antique firearms at Marine Library here. The rifles date back as far as 1800 and include almost every firearm used by the Marine Corps up to the present day. General automatics, the collection here includes many trophies, knives and other weapons used by various adversaries against the Marines during their 150 years of existence.

At Christmas time Mr. Kennedy had made nearly 200 production plan contacts and was still working at the turn of the year. Many of the farms he contacted were not participating in the AAA farm program, but now he has most of them participating in the defense program and also in the Agricultural Conservation program with orders for lime or super phosphate. "He is much liked in his community and is really interested in both programs," says J. L. McCormick, Jr., county agent, and secretary of the Wise Agricultural Co-operation association and County USDA War Board.

When a Child Needs a Laxative!

Your child should like this tasty liquid laxative and you should like the gentle way it usually wakes up a youngster's lazy intestine when given by the simple directions.

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT contains the same principal ingredient which has enabled its older brother BLACK-DRAUGHT to give so many users such satisfying relief for so many years!

Perhaps that's why it usually gives a child such refreshing relief when the familiar symptoms indicate a laxative is needed.

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT comes in 2 sizes. The introductory size is 25¢; the economy size is 50¢.
